Howe fun

"I've got a flippet in my dual conobulator," "That's nothing, my transmission dropped out dragging sixty." These such familiar bits of conversation and hasty greetings float across the parking lot each morning as we arrive at school. Then comes the mad dash up the boardwalk to our classes before the bell rings.

There's time though for the teachers to exchange a word or two in the office and the rush slows down a little as we pause briefly in the alcove and catch up on the latest.

A Howe day wouldn't be complete without cheery Mrs. Mabel Burkart in the bookstore ready to sell us tablets or pencils and then we're off down the halls again. Mrs. Burkart is more or less a tradition here at Howe as she is now completing her seventh year with us.

In our scramble maybe we stop for a minute to watch a freshman puzzle over his locker or to give "helpful directions to another Freshie."

The steadies seem to have all the time in the world as they linger around the classroom doors together, hating to leave 'til the very last minute.

Girls plus bobby pins and minus makeup rush for the comb and mirror; while fellows give a last minute pat to their crew cuts and all is ready for the first class as the 8:15 bell rings and another day is under way.

Starts off the day

Classes offer knowledge

It's 8:15 and another Howe class day begins. Perhaps there will be an informal discussion by the class, or a lecture given by the teacher, abetted by a film or recording. Different methods are used by teachers each day, adding more variety and interest to the class.

All Howeites study English, science, American history, government, health, and physical education, and mathematics in order to meet graduation requirements. They have the opportunity to elect other subjects from a wide variety which will help add more interest to their high school program.

Machine shop classes (above left) taught by Roscoe Pierson give Howe boys instruction on handling machinery carefully and using it correctly. This class serves as an introduction for those who may wish to make machinery their career.

Plastics (above right) is another class full of variety and interest. Students learn to make bowls, lamp bases, letter openers, and, yes, even a pair of plastic shoes.

"The way to a man's heart is through his stomach." Girls of the Home Economics classes demonstrate correct methods of preparing wholesome food (top right). Meanwhile a girl's health class studies the scientific angle of this adage by looking at the model heart (bottom right).

"It won't be long before I'll be as tall as you!" Nurse Celia Smith measures the long and the short of it in the clinic as just one of her many duties (bottom left).

and training

"Parlez-vous-français?" For the first time in the history of Howe, French classes are being offered in the school curriculum. Miss Marthana McWhir is teaching all of the French students the do's and don'ts of this romance language.

Yes, the French Riviera, Eiffel tower, and the irregular verbs are studied by these French students, who are eager to learn about their romantic neighbors in Europe.

"Mah, Ma, Me, Mi, Mo, Mu!"
 "Pop" Watkins leads the boys' glee club in vocal exercises hoping their voices will be clear and angelic.

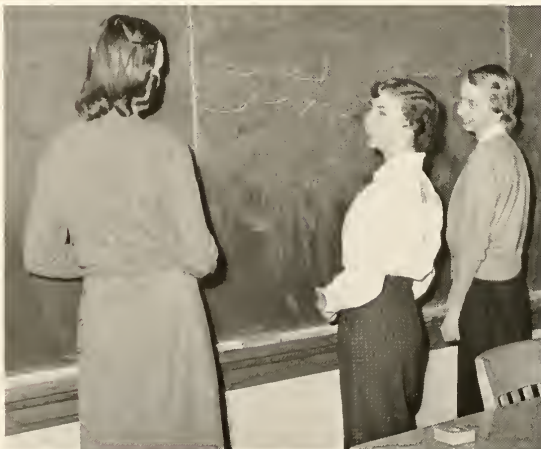

Elective classes at Howe range from exercising the vocal cords in the music department, to conversational practice in the language department.

If a student shows interest in other courses, he can elect such classes as library practice, home management, printing, architectural drawing, or clothing. Or maybe he will decide to major in social studies courses and select from sociology, psychology, family relations, world history, or Latin American history. Whatever his educational plans may be, the Howe student is assured of receiving a good preparation for the future.

Variety spices Howe

"Do I have to read it, too!" Pat Neel receives instruction on reading and writing shorthand from Mrs. Barbara Green, while Linda Huggins waits her turn.

"Look at those kingsize glasses!" Howe's new reading clinic gives students a chance to improve their comprehension and reading speed.

curriculum

"Miss Smith, I know the answer." Eager English students wave their hands in the air with hopes of recognition to show the teacher their intelligence in the matter (top left).

Other Howeites in their Social Studies class receive more information about government by watching a movie. Mr. Forest Witsman, their instructor, looks on, drawing their attention to the more important points of the film (top right).

Art classes are a lot of fun and give students a chance to improve their artistic ability. These lasses are working hard on their projects, hoping they will be good enough for exhibition in the alcove show cases, or for entrance in one of the many contests open to art students.

"I call this 1953 Nationalist convention to order!" Delegates to the Nationalist convention listen attentively to the campaign platform of their party read by Jim Billingsley.

Mock election teaches

"I promise bubble gum machines in all classrooms if I'm elected"; "Vote for me and I'll have cokes installed in the water fountains." These were just a few of the many campaign promises one could hear at the political conventions held early in November. All loyal members of the two opposing parties listened to such promises and speeches as they chose their parties' candidates for the mock election.

John Bowden and Bill Walton were candidates for the offices of Governor and Lieutenant Governor from the Federalist party. Heading the Nationalist party ticket were

"I'll shake on that, Pardner!" Governor Lonnie Tillery and Lieutenant Governor Bill Walton congratulate each other on the outcome of the 1953 mock election.

"Mr. Chairman, I propose . . . !" John Marsh prepares his campaign platform for the Federalist convention.

government by doing

Lonnie Tillery and Jim Billingsley. Candidates for lesser offices were also chosen at this time, and as soon as the conventions were over, the election procedures and campaigns got underway at full speed.

The annual mock election is an outstanding event at Howe as it brings with it not only a better knowledge of our government but many exciting, fun-filled days. Noisy campaigners in the halls, colorful posters decorating the cafeteria and classrooms brought Howeites to the peak of excitement as election day drew nearer. Then the day came and passed; the polls closed and excited office-seekers quieted down to await the results of the balloting.

For the first time in Howe's history a split was registered when Nationalist Lonnie Tillery and Federalist Bill Walton were elected governor and lieutenant governor, respectively. Remaining state offices were also equally divided between Federalists and Nationalists.

"Hey! How do you get out of this thing?" A freshman voter puzzles over the complex voting machine, wondering which lever he should pull for his favored candidates.

"Put up your dukes and fight like men!" Nationalist candidates Lonnie Tillery and Jim Billingsley challenge Federalists John Bowden and Bill Walton to a political fight.

Favorites are assembly and lunch

Schedule III means assembly day at Howe. Seniors occupy the coveted front chair section, and freshmen crowd the bleachers for programs of speakers, music, information, and entertainment.

Six members of the Warren Central High School football team (above) appeared on one of our assemblies to help promote a stronger relationship between our schools.

Before and during the four lunch periods cafeteria workers are kept busy preparing such popular food as french fries and hamburgers for 1300-plus hungry Howeites. Part of the fun of lunch hour comes from eating and talking with chums against a background of popular record music.

"Welcome home Jim!" Mr. Charles Ruschhaupt greets Jim Springer, back from his visit to the UN and New York City. Jim was chosen by the senior class and faculty to represent Howe in the student delegation which visited the United Nations.

After his return, Jim spoke at a Howe assembly describing his stay in New York. Jim and student representatives from the other city high schools also gave talks to various Indianapolis civic groups.

Honors come to Howeites

Every year two outstanding members of the junior class receive the American Legion Citizenship Award. Sally Tinkle and Jim Springer are the 1953 recipients of this honor.

Carol Sue Dorsett was the choice of the senior class and faculty for the DAR Good Citizenship Award. She was elected on the basis of scholarship, leadership and citizenship.

Food and frolic fill after

Fellows got their chance for the royal spotlight at the annual Winter Wonderland Dance on December 18 when the Winter Wonderland King was crowned.

Candidates vying for the title were Price Garland, Bill Walton, Mike Leffler, Jim Burck, Bubby Oilar, Kent Stewart, Jerry Mitchell and Ronnie Heath.

Bill Walton was selected as Winter Wonderland King and crowning honors were performed by G.A.A. president Dotti Cayton during the intermission.

"Time to go home!" These Howe lasses don their coats, ready to leave school for the day. They will be talking about Hosegi meeting, octet practice, or other extra-curricular activities all the way home.

Howe's class day ends with the ring of the 3:13 passing bell. Doors burst open and eager students rush to their lockers, put on their coats, and make a mad dash for the parking lot. Cars fill up quickly with Howe students, and then take off from the parking lot, making a dash to be first at the after school hangout, so they can listen to the latest tales from other schools.

Eight kids squeeze into a booth made for four and order big nickel cokes all around. A blues song plays in the background while everyone tries to talk above its soothing music in order to be heard. After everyone has circulated around the tables and heard all the latest, we leave the remains of broken straws and melted ice and drift off toward home.

school hours

"Look at all those calories. I shouldn't have ordered this." As these Howe lasses figure up their calorie count, envious eyes peer over the booth hoping to beg a bite of their strawberry super deluxe sundae.

"Don't play that one. Ray Anthony is better than he is." Howe's Janes and Joes talk about the latest popular music, band leaders, and singers to keep up on recent news of entertainment glamor.

Dances highlight Howe's

In October the class of '54 proved again that their guys and gals have what it takes when it comes to the Brown and Gold. For the second consecutive year the man and woman of the hour were chosen from this class.

Last minute anticipation was at its peak when Vice Principal Stirling announced that seniors Don Rees and Pat Stanley (above right) would reign as Brown Boy and Golden Girl over the fourteenth annual dance. Other senior candidates were Sue Stow and Tom Litteral. Candidates backed by the junior class were Barbara Shortridge, Judy Brown, Jim Spears, and Mike Leffler.

We danced to the music of Ted Campbell's band at this, the biggest HILLTOPPER dance in the history of Howe.

Judy Duffy smiled proudly when crowned Hi-Y Sweetheart by Hoyt Miller during the Sweetheart dance on February 20. Other candidates for this title were Lynn Blair, Jolan Goken, Judi Hodson and Barbara Henninger.

The Tech Rhythmaires provided dancing music for this annual dance which is sponsored by Howe's Senior and Beta Hi-Y's.

nightlife

Howe's Senior and Beta Hi-Y's held record dances after the home basketball games this year. They also manned the checking concession at open house and school dances.

Officers of Senior Hi-Y are Bob Eade, president; Hoyt Miller, vice-president; Gene Hausman, secretary; Tom Steele, treasurer, and John Holobeck, chaplain.

Beta Hi-Y officers are David Homeier, president; Fred Green, vice-president; Mike Grove, secretary; Bob Babcock, treasurer; and Gene Ross, chaplain.

Celebrating the one hundredth year of the Indianapolis school system, a parade of floats prepared by all public schools was held in downtown Indianapolis. Queen Carol Dorsett and her court brightened Howe's float.

Night pageant marks

The coming of the queen to the Violet Hill begins the parade of achievement while the philosopher, chosen by Senior Hi-Y, reviews the highlights of the previous year. The May Pole dance, dance of the Violets, and other such entertainment portray these events.

As the choir sings "Farewell to the Queen" the queen and her court depart and the philosopher starts the clock to begin Howe's 16th year.

Candidates for Violet Queen are chosen from members of Vihota, the junior girls club, and final selection of the queen is made by the student body. The Violet Queen is crowned at the beginning of Howe's May Pageant.

fifteenth year

This year Carol Dorsett reigned as Violet Queen, members of her court were Jeanne Yoos, Sally Tinkle, Judy Sommers, and Joan Unnewehr. Norman Wilkens appeared as the philosopher. Escorts for the court were Jerry Lowe, John Heitz, Dick Ponti, and Tom Leister.

Philosopher Norman Wilkens reviews the events of the year (lower left). A large birthday cake (lower right) dominated the Pageant decorations.

The play's the thing . . . . .

On the nights of April 29 and 30, Thursday and Friday, "Show Business" became "Senior Business." Howe's drama enthusiasts were entertained by a sparkling presentation of Smarter and Smoother, a three-act comedy written by Maureen Daly, and dramatized by Kristin Sergel.

In the play, Iris, who writes a column of advice for teenagers, discovers that her own sister, Sandy, is lagging socially. Iris decides that something must be done, so she sets out to improve Sandy. Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin, the parents, have definite ideas about how teenagers should dress and act. These ideas are not in agreement with those of Iris. All this results in a mixed-up, but humorous situation, which works out in the end.

The play was selected by a committee of seniors under the direction of Mr. Darrell Gooch, who also directed the play. Different student committees handled all details connected with its presentation.

Since the HILLTOPPER deadline came before opening night, it was impossible to have photographs taken at the performance. These pictures of the cast, prompters, and student director were taken at early rehearsals.

Vivid pictures of...

Starting off the social calendar for the seniors this year was the annual winter class party which was called "Toyland." The seniors added a new twist to it this year and brought toys for their admission. These toys were given to needy children for Christmas. The next big event was the basketball sectional tourney. We crammed as much fun into the sectionals as we could, knowing that they would be our last as Howe students.

College day, the wonderful class play, Smarter and Smoother, plans for the spring party, for vespers, for commencement, and for the exciting prom came about all too soon. We could hardly realize that we would be the ones marching down the front steps to the strains of "Pomp and Circumstance" on graduation day.

We are indeed proud of our class—the class of 1954.

One principal, Charles MacKay Sharp, has guided Howe through its first sixteen years. His teaching and administrative experience have contributed much to Howe's growth and progress. His characteristic friendliness and understanding have become a valued part of Howe.

Howe is not only young in years; it also has a young faculty. Interests of sixty-five teachers vary much, with the exception of teaching, naturally. Prized shell collections, art, extensive travel, pets, geological research, and writing poetry just start the list of Howe teachers' activities. A genuine interest in students prompts many of the faculty to spend long hours helping with extra-curricular activities, as well as to give additional help after classes to those needing it.

Principal C. M. Sharp interrupts a busy schedule to explain an item for the weekly bulletin.

SPORTS

With a strong, fast running team, the Howe gridsters posted a 6-3 season, losing only to Tech, Manual, and Washington. Sophomore Cliff Oilar led the scoring with 49 points, to set a new record for sophomores. He carried the ball for 645 yards in 82 attempts, for an average of 7.8 yards per carry. Armand Roach, who also played a great deal on the defensive team, followed with 28. Ronnie Fox quarterbacked the team, and his passing accuracy accounted for five tallies.

In the first game, the Hornets took the field against Tech. Although Howe held a 13-7 advantage at the half, our eastside rivals came from behind to prove victorious. The Southport Cardinals were our first victims as they fell, 20-13. In the third match at Manual, Howe lost, 13-7, in a game that ended as the Hornets were only one yard from a possible winning touchdown.

The team then began a five game winning streak, with the defeat of highly rated Crispus Attucks. The other defeated teams included Broad Ripple, Columbus, Anderson, and Warren Central. This string was snapped by Washington in the final game of the season.

At the annual athletic banquet, Bill Walton, who did excellent work at end, both offensively and defensively, was voted most valuable player. Dick Slaughter, who called the defensive plays, was elected captain, and Don Cermack won the Kiwanis award for Best Mental Attitude. Howe was represented on the Indianapolis Star All-City football team by Fox, while the News' squad sported Walton.

In September of 1953, the second annual City Football Jamboree was a gala affair, commemorating the one hundredth anniversary of our Indianapolis school system. The picture below shows Roach downing a Cathedral player in the final quarter of the Jamboree.

The football season was not all masculine in 1953. Football Queen Jeanne Yoos and her court added that much-needed feminine look.

The queen's first appearance was made at the annual city Football Jamboree, where every high school was represented by a pretty miss. Jeanne became Howe's official queen at the Howe-Columbus game. Team co-captains Armand Roach and Bill Walton crowned her after a triumphal ride in a convertible around the field.

Candidates for Football Queen had been selected by homeroom balloting in the spring, in order for the queen to be presented at the Jamboree held in September.

The reserve team, led by Coach Roscoe Pierson, won every game but one in seven matches. After winning three straight, the gridmen were downed by Cathedral, 19-0. Ray Smith, Dave McCormick, and Charles Bone shared the scoring honors behind a well balanced line. The reserves were victors over Manual, Attucks, Broad Ripple, Southport, Warren Central, and Washington.

Howe's harriers opened their season by defeating Crispus Attucks by one point. After losing their next three meets, one to defending state champ Anderson, they gained a decisive victory over Warren Central. In the last meet of the season, Columbus fell victim to the Hornets by a score of 25-30.

Jim Burck and Bob Eade were the outstanding performers for the squad. Burck had first place in seven meets, second place in the sectional, and was undefeated in dual competition. He and Eade finished three-four in the city and county meets.

Ronnie Fox scored two quick tallies, and Rees tipped in the last basket as time ran out. Midway in this streak of triumphs was the City Tourney, in which Howe fell to an angry Manual team, 31-30, in an exciting game.

After losing to Terre Haute Garfield and Tech, the Hornets won over Crispus Attucks and Ben Davis.

Crowning ceremonies took place before the Clinton game on February 12. Bill Walton and Ronnie Fox were given the honor of presenting our pretty queen with her crown, gold basketball and of course the ever popular kiss.

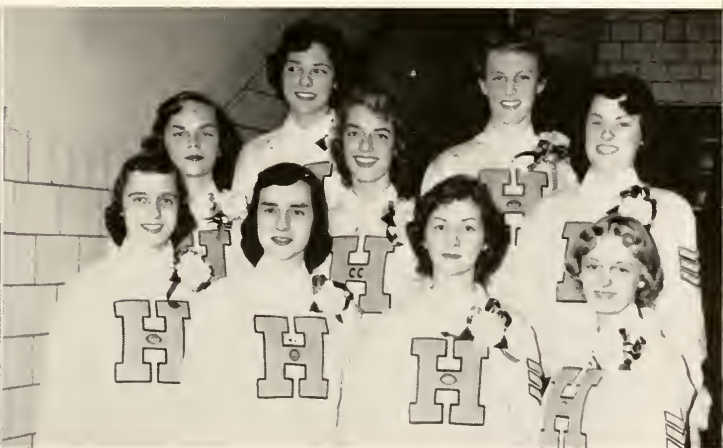

Candidates, who were escorted onto the floor by the team, were Carol Dorsett, Charlotte Stuck, Ellen Collier, Nancy Nitchman, Sandy Worley, Pat Scheele, Marcia Graves, and Luora Langley.

After the ceremonies, the queen and her court took seats in the cheering section to watch the varsity game.

FRONT — Taylor, Fox, Walton, Baker.

The fans have a tense moment in the Washington game.

In the rest of the season, Howe defeated New Albany and Clinton, while succumbing to Cathedral and Warren Central. Upon meeting Shortridge in the Sectionals, the Blue Devils scored sweet revenge for the defeat handed them earlier, by winning, 60-54.

Rees was named most valuable player, partly because of his rebounding ability, and partly because of his 18 points per game average. Bill Walton and Rees were elected co-captains. The Kiwanis Award for the best mental attitude went to John Heitz, and Price Garland won the free throw accuracy award, by hitting 73% of his attempts at the 15 foot stripe.

Fox was honored with a position on the first team of the Indianapolis Star's All-City team, while Rees was the center on the second team.

Linksmen Cop Sectional

Under the able guidance of Coach Fred Lemley, Howe won its first sectional golf crown and finished fourth in the state. The Hornet linksmen also won the Spring City-County meet with a record four-man score of 307. Don Williams paced the Howe attack by shooting a 75. In the Fall City-County, John Schutt led the Hornets with a 78, which was the second best score out of a field of seventy. Howe's sectional triumph was clinched by Bob Ball's 78, the second best score in the field.

After losing their season's opener to Shortridge, Howe's baseball team shellacked Crispus Attucks by a score of 20-1. Ronnie Fox and Tom McCallister teamed up to strike out the Tigers fourteen times. Loose fielding plagued the squad in the next two games, but the Hornets bounced back to win four straight contests.

Howe's winning streak was finally stopped by Broad Ripple. The season record was 8-6.

Jim Neiman was voted most valuable player, and Bill Payne received the award for Best Mental Attitude. The team captain was Tom Sheppard, and the Ted Guthrie Memorial Award for the most improved player went to Phil Corbin.

Reserves win three

With the hitting of Bob Little and the pitching of Kurt von Burg, Coach Lewis Gilfoy's reserve baseball club ended their season with a three wins and one loss.

Arthur LeGacy helped with the pitching chores, while Bob Bell and Larry Black contributed records of .277 for second place honors in the hitting department.

Managers help teams

Coach Lyman P. Combs is in charge of all the athletic equipment for Howe teams. He is helped in this task by the student managers. These boys not only issue the equipment to the team members, but also make sure it is all returned, and help to replace any damaged materials.

Since Mr. Combs is occupied much of the time with the care of player injuries, the student managers have much responsibility for the management of all the teams' supplies. Junior Fred Leucht is the chief student manager, and is the supervisor of the other managers.

Balanced Hornets trounce Southport

Although Howe's track team won only one meet, they were a well-balanced squad that lost but four men by graduation.

The cindermen's victory was over Southport, by a score of 84-33.

The Hornets made a good showing in the sectional, finishing third behind Washington and Danville, and qualifying six individuals for the regional.

Senior Frank McCormick was captain of the squad. Bob Eade had the best mental attitude and Harold Kouns was selected as most valuable. The Carl Speiss, Jr., memorial award for best mental attitude in freshman track went to Cliff Oilar.

Kouns led in point production with 143, followed by Eade with 66, and Armand Roach with 63.

Girls Athletic Association

Throughout the school year, the girls of G.A.A. enjoy participating in a long and varied list of sports and activities. Among these are speedball, badminton, bowling, volleyball, and basketball. Also included in the G.A.A. curriculum are swimming, tennis, golf, apparatus, recreational sports, and softball.

Outstanding events of the spring are the annual gym meet and track meet.

This year, in addition to swimming, senior life savers received instructions from Miss Shirley Diehl, G.A.A. sponsor.

G.A.A. makes its contribution to the Christmas season by sponsoring the Winter Wonderland Dance jointly with the Letter-men's Club. Highlighting the dance this year was the crowning of king, Bill Walton.

Occasionally, G.A.A. members are invited by other schools to attend playdays.

As a reward for their efforts, G.A.A. members are presented with various awards and honors which can be acquired by a point system. After receiving a membership emblem, it is possible for each girl to win an emblem, letter, and a sweater. Another award has recently been added, which is the state G.A.A. wall plaque. This is the highest award possible for a girl to earn.

These awards are presented to the girls at the G.A.A. Banquet which is held in the spring.

Student Council functions

The camera focuses now on our student council. Each member is elected by his own homeroom; these representatives in turn elect the council officers. Through suggestions of students, the council strives to improve conditions of the school, and to improve student-faculty relations.

Among their many activities, the student council sponsored its annual Christmas Drive, with the proceeds going to the Guardians Home; managed the crowning ceremonies for basketball, football, and track queens; and ushered at Open House. Along with the Sectional pep session and good sportsmanship drive, the council sold brown and gold derbies for Howeites to wear at the Sectionals.

The cabinet is composed of the student council officers who are elected by the home-room representatives. This year for the first time a girl, Carole Pryor, was chosen to preside over council meetings.

to better Howe

The cabinet of the student council meets to discuss problems for council consideration. It refers important issues and recommendations to the council. The cabinet reads and considers student suggestions from the suggestion box. Worthy suggestions are referred to the council for action. The cabinet, because it is a small group, often can form plans and discuss matters more efficiently and informally than the council.

The Indianapolis Federation of Student Councils holds monthly meetings at the school board office. Representatives from each school, who have been elected from their individual councils, meet and discuss similar school problems. This city student council gives students an opportunity to look into the workings of other schools, to compare procedures, and to experience working together toward a single goal—to achieve better relations and understandings among city high schools.

Howe's members are Dick Slaughter, Judy Brown, and Donna Funk, who is also secretary of the Federation. At least one junior is always a member so that experience is available for his next year.

The Federation sponsored a City Convention at Tech this year to which all council members throughout the city were invited. The sportsmanship campaign featured the slogan: "Don't be a Drag; Don't be a Drip; Always use good Sportsmanship" at the Sectionals. This annual drive for good sportsmanship is one of the I.F.S.C.'s successful undertakings.

How time has flown!

You can always tell a senior but you cannot tell her much. Despite this quotation the senior girls benefited from their activities, which were a panel discussion on dating given by the Senior Hi-Y, talks about sororities, rush teas and college life in general by Miss Adams and Miss Rowland, Howe teachers. Besides this they took part in the All-Girls' Hallowe'en and Christmas Parties.

This year Carol Dorsett was president of Hosegi. Other officers were Joyce Thayer, vice-president; Sally Tinkle, secretary; and Toni Powell, treasurer.

Miss Jackie Smith sponsored the club.

You can always tell a junior by her dignity and such. Certainly the most dignified junior girl is the Vihota Queen who reigns over the annual May Pageant. She and her court are chosen from the members of Vihota.

Vihota club members helped with the All-Girls' Christmas and Hallowe'en parties. They also had a Valentine party, a gift wrapping demonstration by Mrs. Virginia Moore, and a panel discussion on dating by the Senior Hi-Y.

In the thick of things

You can always tell a sophomore by her keen and eager ways. The sophomore girls' club La-Nina eagerly got under way this year with parties, speakers, and other activities.

Among their activities they included a panel discussion by the Beta Hi-Y on dating. They participated in the All Girls' Christmas and Halloween parties.

You can always tell a freshman by her bewildered gaze. This special gaze was subjected to many new activities. Some of them were a style show, a panel on how to be happy in school, a welcome party for January freshman girls, and a panel discussion on dating.

Officers were Marcia Graves, president; Carolyn Green, vice-president; Sandy Hamel, secretary; and Cindy Smithson, treasurer.

Eighty-five boxes were sent overseas by the Jr. Red Cross club. Members packed the boxes and also supervised the drive here at Howe.

This club, under the leadership of president Edna Garrison and sponsor Mrs. Betty Johnson has had a very successful year. Larry Oswalt, Edna and Edith Garrison were on the Board of Representatives for the district.

Eyes and Ears of the World

Howe's Visual Education club is a school service organization. Members give one period daily to operating the projectors.

Mr. William Smith is sponsor of this group. Ray Cantwell is president and Dale Penn is vice-president. Projectionists learn to care for films and filmstrips as well as to operate projectors.

Officers of the club are Wayne Martin, president; Tom Whitaker, vice-president; and Elizabeth Tincher, secretary.

Budding Broadcasters

"Testing, one, two, three." This phrase is frequently heard by Radio Club members. The group broadcast several radio shows during the past year, in addition to learning techniques of speaking and writing for radio.

Barbara Ramsey presided over the group in the fall and Sylvia Upshaw was president in the spring. Miss Jackie Smith sponsors the club.

“Hey, I’ve got a bite.” This conversation might be heard on the Sportsmen’s Club annual field trip. Their club activities include studying the out-of-doors and nature. They learn laws of hunting, fishing, and conservation.

Charles Berry is the president, and Mr. William Smith sponsors the club.

Watch Your Step

“Hup-two-three-four!” Howe’s Baton Twirlers Club is headed by Jacque Wooden. Assisting her are Carol Reasner, vice president; and Carol Roseman, secretary.

The majorettes, who are selected in the spring, teach routines and help prepare the club members for tryouts.

Mr. Louis McEnderfer is the sponsor.

Let’s Really Go

Ed Stevens and Bob Reed are co-captains of this year’s Cheerleaders Club.

The varsity squad received new uniforms this year and were active at all of Howe’s home football and basketball games.

Miss Marjorie LaRue is the club sponsor.

Foreign customs interest linguists

Mythology was the theme for this year's Latin Club. As a service to the Latin classes, the club made slides and posters. They also had a party to welcome all new 9B's to the club. As an added feature, a play was given.

Serving as officers this year were Helen Schultze, president; Marcia Benefiel, vice president; and Judy Cook, secretary.

The sponsors of the Latin Club alternate semesters. Serving for the fall semester was Miss Thelma Cooley and for the spring semester was Miss Marjorie Rork.

"Buenas dias, amigos." Members of the Spanish Club exchanged this greeting in their classroom tongue. They also heard talks on Cuba, Spain, and other Spanish-speaking countries.

Fall semester officers were Grace Maze, president; Sandy Fotiades, vice-president; Pat Scheele, secretary; and Mary Ellen Orton, treasurer. Spring semester officers were Joan Heavyside, president; Jo Ann Hartley, vice-president; Virginia Leavitt, secretary; and Grace Maze, treasurer. Mr. Robert Turner sponsors the group.

High in the Tower....

Led by Liz Johnson, editor-in-chief, and Marcia Blake, associate editor, the '54 HILLTOPPER staff determined to better the record of the All-American award winning '53 book. Working with them to achieve this goal were Carolyn Jacobs and Barbara Fiers, senior co-editors; Nancy Pflueger, activities editor; Judy Brown and Linda French, club editors; Jack Austin, Janice Brown, and Tom Steele, sports editors; Ellen Collier and Sherry Turpen, underclassmen editors; Carol Klusman, make-up editor;

Conferring with Mrs. Jenkins at I. U. this summer about yearbook plans are Marcia Blake and Liz Johnson.

Jeanne Yoos, copy editor; Donna Funk and Sandy Chase, business managers; Gloria Simms and Sue McMullen, assistant make-up editors.

The beginning of this year's book started last summer at the High School Journalism Institute of Indiana University. There Liz and Marcia prepared a dummy of the yearbook for 1954, which is larger than ever with its addition of 12 pages.

In the midst of planning pictures to be taken in the fall, planning for the subscription campaign, and working on the assembly program, preparations went ahead for the Brown and Gold Dance.

Lots of work and many hours after school have gone into the finished '54 HILLTOPPER.

We would like to express our thanks to Mr. Earl Loudermilk, who is our photographer; to Mr. Larry Wells of the Indianapolis Engraving Company, and to Mr. Robert Moorhead of the Central Publishing Company, our printers.

All editors and their associates help decide on the pictures to be used for their particular sections. Here Tom Steele, Jack Austin, and Janice Brown look through the sport pictures while Jeanne Yoos seems to be listening for hints on what to say for her copy. Carolyn Jacobs and Barbara Fiers show Linda French how they selected pictures for the senior section.

Proportions, slide rules, copy size, and "Where's that grease pencil?" are familiar words to all members of the HILLTOPPER staff. Mrs. Jenkins is showing Judy Brown, Carol Klusman, Sandy Chase, Sue McMullen and Gloria Simms just how to make that picture fit a space about half its original size.

What is more fun, yet causes more confusion than keeping the underclassmen pictures in the right order? Underclassmen editors Ellen Collier and Sherry Turpen are having quite a struggle keeping oldsters Donna Funk, Nancy Pflueger, and Marcia Blake from tangling up their pictures.

Special thanks go to mid-year workers Larry Kinsey, Barbara Shortridge, Corann McCawley, Irene Allison, Jonette Hodge, and Sue Huffman.

Members of the Howe TOWER celebrated its sixteenth anniversary in May.

Staff members Judy Stucky and Carolyn Collins represented Howe last July at the Journalism Institute at Indiana University.

During October, Judy, Carolyn, Virginia Crider, Jessie Wuster, Bill Ridge, and David Rasmussen attended the IHSPA convention at Franklin, where they learned more about journalism and newspapers.

Reporters on the staff cover assigned beats weekly. In addition, some reporters have special assignments for feature stories and news items not found on regular beats.

Page editors read the material and plan page layouts. Copy readers edit the stories and write headlines. The paper begins to take shape when the copy is sent to the printer. Then comes the wait for galley proofs and then more corrections.

The finished Howe TOWER is distributed to Howeites through their homerooms.

Staff members can tell you that their work might get rough at times, but satisfaction is their reward in the end.

Looking up current news for the TOWER is the job of staff writers Phyllis Myers and Carole Pryor. After their stories have been written and typed up, it is the job of copy readers David Hale and David Rasmussen to edit them.

The rush is on! As you can see by the deluge of papers, another TOWER deadline has been successfully met.

Planning their page layouts for the next issue and discussing what articles will be used are page editors Judy Stucky, Jessie Wuster, and Virginia Crider.

Period 1 every day is reserved for choir members to rehearse.

Choir spreads Howe's glory

Howe's choir maintained its traditions and added activities during the year. Under the direction of Mr. Frank S. Watkins, the choir sang for radio broadcasts, 400 Club meeting, Open House, the annual Christmas assembly, the spring music festival, and the Women's Prison. They also participated in the Parade of Choruses at Shortridge.

The honor of being the first high school choir to sing for the American Guild of Organists went to the group in March. The choir had the further thrill of singing for the ceremonies which installed Mr. Roy E. Horton (Howe's chief engineer) as Eminent Commander of the Oriental Temple.

A choral arrangement of Ravel's Bolero, complete with dancers, was a feature of the vocal music festival held in May.

Final choir appearances of the year are traditionally at Senior Vespers and Commencement.

Choir members can vouch for happy times as well as all of the hard work involved in rehearsing and presenting programs of high caliber. Here Dennis Pullin, choir accompanist Sally Tinkle and John Heitz enjoy a round of harmonizing with Director "Pop" Watkins.

Howe's gentlemen of song, the boys' octet, have built a fine reputation this year through their appearances at varied public functions. Resplendent in white dinner jackets, this masculine crew longingly voiced "Lover Come Back to Me" in the Pleasant Run Revue.

At church programs and other performances they wore the snappy brown and gold uniforms shown at right. Programs for Fort Harrison, Railroadmen's and the Kick-Off Drive of the Red Cross were included in the octet's 1953-54 schedule. Assemblies at school and the annual Christmas program of the music department rounded out their list of performances.

Mr. Frank S. Watkins is their director, and Jim Steiner is their accompanist.

Musical ensembles

"Dig that crazy combo!" Howe's dance band formed only a few years ago has continued to improve through the years.

Under the leadership of Mr. Paul Saunders, who also plays the saxophone in the band, the group has performed at many functions both here at Howe and away. The band members can tell you that there is a lot of work put into practicing.

Among their activities are playing for the Winter Wonderland Dance, sponsored by the Lettermen's Club and the G.A.A.; playing for the senior class winter party, which came under the title of Toyland; playing for the seniors' spring party, which was the Bunny Bounce.

The Choralaires consist of selected girls from the glee clubs. Since their beginning, three years ago, the Choralaires have gained a fine reputation through their appearances at school and public functions. This year the Choralaires participated in the Parade of Choruses at Shortridge, sang for the Christmas program and spring music festival at Howe, and appeared in an all school assembly. Mr. Watkins is their director and Judy Doak is their accompanist.

display versatility

Glamour blended with song is about the only way to describe the girls' octet. Under the direction of "Pop" Watkins, these gals have really gone places around the city, even appearing in the spotlight of TV.

Performances have been given for the Fort Harrison Service Men's Club, Dental Association, Girl Scout Convention, Boys' State, Christian Men Builders Class, and various other church and civic organizations.

BACK ROW—Myers, Yoos, Shannon, Kapp.

Band adds pep

Howe's fifty-member band has shown itself to be one of the most improved organizations in the music department. Members of the A band, pictured above, are selected after careful training in the B band. The purpose of these two bands is sometimes confused, and it should be realized that B band is merely a training group.

Mr. Louis McEnderfer, director, describes the band as having three main functions: to serve educational purposes, to serve the school and the public.

Outstanding musicians in the band received recognition for their work at a state contest in March. Jim Chandler placed first with his clarinet selection, while John Miller,

Our Baton Majorettes added pep as well as glamour to our band during this past year. These high-stepping gals experienced the thrill of marching in parades as well as marching at the home games during football and basketball seasons. Pictured here are: Janet Steffy, Jacque Wooden, Darlene Fly, Carol Roesner, Marcia Bransford, and Carol Shogren. Sharon McNearney was not present when the majorettes were photographed at the City Football Jamboree.

to athletic events

French horn, and Jack Gilfoy, snare drum, each received excellent recommendations.

Among the band's many performances were playing for open house, the City Football Jamboree, and five home football games. They even traveled to Anderson for one game appearance. Continuing in the athletic vein, the band revived the practice of playing at home basketball games.

Their annual concert was given at Howe on March 26, at which time band letters and senior awards were presented. The program included such selections as "First Swedish Rhapsody," "Dark Eyes," "Amparito Roca" and "T.V. Suite." Other band activities were marching in the Irvington Halloween parade, and playing for school assemblies and pep sessions.

In April, the band represented Howe as a class "A" Band in the Annual Competitive Festival held at Shortridge High School.

STANDING—Beam, Scheele, Hildreth, Mott.

 FRONT ROW—Rosser, Crider, Alger, Ginebaugh,
 Freeman, Willits, Staley.

Orchestra trains musicians

Perhaps not so well known as the band, the orchestra has proved that it has talent, too. The string classes and the woodwind classes serve as training groups for beginners who wish to join the orchestra.

Some of the A Band members also double in the Howe orchestra, principally in the brass and woodwind sections. Other orchestra members have received their "basic training" on the violas, cellos, and string bass, in the string class taught by Mr. Louis McEnderfer. Woodwind players likewise receive their initial training in the woodwind class.

Uniformed in brown and gold the orchestra presented its annual concert in December. They also played at open house, participated in a state contest on April 3, and played for Howe's May Music Festival. Mr. McEnderfer is the director.

Advertising staff members sold and wrote ads which appeared in the Howe TOWER. Ed Stevens was in charge of this staff, assisted by Barbara Shortridge.

ADVERTISING STAFF

They mind their business

Business managers have an important role to play in the promotion of Howe's extra-curricular activities. Advertising the events and selling the tickets are only two of the many duties performed by this group.

Under the direction of Mr. Charles Ruschhaupt, these student managers also perform bookkeeping and accounting chores for the programs under their management.

Jim Springer and Bill Walton are head business manager and house manager, respectively. Other staff members hold important jobs to make music festivals, plays, and athletic events run smoothly.

BUSINESS MANAGERS

BACK ROW — Rees, Barnes, Mattingly, Peyton, Heitz, Billingsley.

THIRD ROW — Kinsey, Whitaker, Franklin, Layton, Lowe.

Clark, Collins, Stirling, Litchenauer, Pursell, Wilkens, Miller, Whyte, Cayton, Becker, Harvey, Orton, Wilson, Ramsey.

Revelers stage "Room for One More"

Presenting the play Room for One More was the chief activity of Howe's Footlight Revelers. The main plot of the play is the story of Jimmy John, a crippled boy, who the social worker thinks is a complete misfit. He recovers both physically and emotionally in the home of the Roses, a warm-hearted family who finally adopt him.

Revelers also prepared one act plays, Little Prison and Antic Summer, which were given for several club groups. Several members of Revelers are also Thespians, members of the National Dramatic Society.

Officers were Mary Ellen Orton, president; Sandi Becker, vice-president; Hoyt Miller, secretary; and Dotti Cayton, scribe.

The Pleasant Run Revue is Howe's annual variety show put on entirely by the students. A contest was sponsored to select a theme for this year's revue. Judy Proctor was the winner with the idea of "The Calendar."

THIRD ROW—Octets dream of loved ones in harmony. Silent movies return with "Charlie Chaplin Takes a Walk." Sailors celebrate the 4th of July with Red, White and Blue. Octets harmonize on "Lover Come Back to Me."

SECOND ROW—A little boy's dream of how Easter should be—The Bunny Hop. Who says "stay in on a cold night in January"? This little gal builds a snowman.

BOTTOM ROW—In the spring a young man's fancy turns to love as Karen and Dennis sing "Sweethearts." Fall and hayrides go together and even a lively square dance sneaks in. Linda Bishop pantomimes to a record for an intermission act. "I can tell. I'm a Gemini, you're an Aquarius, a perfect match."

Behind the scenes snapshots

Howe is looking forward toward expanding to its new wing in September of 1954. Construction men work hard to finish in time for the deadline (upper left). Sound-proof rooms for the music department, enlarged space for industrial arts classes, and new publications' offices are just part of the new look Howe students and faculty will see.

"Time for Hoosier Hysteria!" Howe varsity cheerleaders look sorrowful about the outcome of the Washington vs. Howe game (upper right).

Open House is an annual event at Howe. It begins with a program given by the music department after which parents tour classrooms and look at exhibits. A Fun Fair is held each year by the Howe P. T. A. Profits derived from this festival are used to buy items such as band and orchestra uniforms. Howe Joes and Janes (lower left) visit an exhibit prepared by the HOWE TOWER staff.

Mr. Thomas Stirling and Mrs. Christianna Genrich look over the new schedule of classes for the spring semester. Vice Principal Stirling plans the schedule, making sure every student will be in his proper place at the proper time.

Mrs. Mildred Loew, dean of girls, has the pleasure of informing girls of their candidacy for queens. Above left she talks to Violet Queen candidates giving them last minute details of the May Pageant.

Mr. Alvin E. Geier (upper right) talks over college arrangements with a senior boy, helping him with his plans for the following year. As senior class sponsor he helps make college and scholarship arrangements for all graduating seniors who plan to continue their education. As counselor to juniors he helps plan their high school programs to insure them of meeting graduation requirements.

"Dig that crazy violin!" Three orchestra members tug together hoping to bring the bass fiddle down to solid earth again. With enlarged music quarters in the newly built wing, storage of such big instruments won't be so hectic.

"Snake charmers." Members of the Sportsmen's Club exhibit garter snakes and a boa constrictor to the camera lens. These snakes represent only three of the many which were on display in the biology department during open house. Other exhibits in this popular department display were insect collections, dissections, and a chicken skeleton, assembled by students.
